

Living Your Life to the Fullest

Contributed by AstroLenn
 Sunday, 24 August 2008
 Last Updated Saturday, 04 October 2008

Make your Word Sacred

Don't Take Anything Personally

Always Try Your Best

Don't Make Judgments

These four truths are your path to freedom. When you are able to follow and live these truths then you can change your life. By making your word sacred you are telling the Universe that the thoughts you have or what you say is the absolute truth and that the Universe can begin to manifest what you want. For instance if you said that you were going to begin an exercise program today and will exercise every day for the next seventeen days, which is the time needed to make anything you do a habit, then the Universe will make sure you are able to do so by clearing the way for your intention. There are some people who tell the Universe what they would like to happen at a specific time, and believe that it will be so, without doubt. On Sunday we were out camping in our tent trailer and had to pack up and leave so I told the Universe that I didn't care if it rained tomorrow as long as there was an hour of no rain in the morning in order for me to break camp and be on my way. The next morning it was just what I ordered. The rain cooperated during my weekend off and it didn't start raining in Colville until a minute after the parade had ended and then it poured, when we were safely in the car. When you make your word sacred then the Universe expects you to direct it with your intentions. Sometimes when you tell the Universe exactly what you want and then upon receiving it you realize it wasn't what you wanted, the Universe starts delaying the time period for your manifestations and it takes quite a long time for your intention to become a reality. If the Universe is sure and all the steps are in place then it can happen overnight. When you receive your intention from the Universe and it isn't exactly what you wanted, don't make a judgment. You need to be clearer in what you are creating. In anything that you manifest there are steps to the final realization. First you create it in your own mind. Create this [[manifestation]] in living color with every detail you can add, including color, accessories, whether it has four doors, CD player, GPS, or any other detail. A lot of people will cut out a picture of the car they want to have and post it on their fridge, and then spend time each day manifesting the car. The clearer and more concise you can be on ordering your car and the faster the car will become a reality. See yourself receiving the car and feel all the emotions that would be involved with getting the car. It doesn't help the Universe to tell it you want a car. When you always try your best then even though the thing you manifested isn't exactly what you wanted then the Universe knows that you will be able to make it your own. When you are able to not take anything personally then you are able to live in the present where your power resides not in the past where the power is drained away. By not taking anything personally you are able to stay away from making judgments and the assumptions that people are deliberately trying to hurt you. By making your word sacred and trying your best you will not judge yourself as a failure, even if you do fail and you will have an easier time of never taking things personally, though sometimes you do, because although we are perfect, we have lessons to learn.

When you get to the point where you are fairly competent at using the four principals of being peaceful then you will begin changing. Slowly at first, and then the change begins in your inner world and expands to the outer reality. Once we begin using these principals consciously, to the point where we rarely take things personally or judge people, we begin to notice when we do and how much better we feel when we are at peace from the turmoil of judgment and taking things personally. When you do make a mistake and judge someone then you notice immediately when you do and examine the reason for the judgment.

As your inner world begins to change you feel better, about yourself with more confidence. Your world also changes and adapts your view of life, the people you meet are kinder and you don't run into turmoil as often as people who at odds with themselves and their world. When you do run into turmoil you feel it as negative energy, some time before it happens and you can leave. I believe that we live in a world, where what you feel inside, in your inner world is projected out into the outer world. I call it the mirror world. If it is a world of peace then you will have a peaceful loving mirror, where the people and situations that happen in your life is more of a peaceful nature and you don't get caught up in the violence and the hate of the world.

The inner world and the mirror world is what you create and is more dependent on you than the [[Universal consciousness]], which helps you co-create your world. Your family is a co creation of all the mirrors and the Universal consciousness. A family that is centered and has peaceful mirrors works well together and can contribute to a beautiful home that you each co-create together.

A town that creates and works together using the same principals can become a paradise and the same with a world with such a dynamic.

{amazon_product}1878424505{/amazon_product}